Improving the safety of ambulatory IV chemotherapy in Canada: Results and recommendations from a 2-year exploratory study

The death of a patient due to a fluorouracil overdose, and other similar incidents, highlighted the risks of ambulatory IV chemotherapy. As a follow-up to the root cause analysis of the event, a two-year research project was funded by a number of cancer and safety agencies across Canada. The objectives were to identify safety issues in ambulatory IV chemotherapy in a wide range of environments. This one-hour webinar will highlight the results and recommendations from the two-year pan-Canadian exploratory study on safety issues in ambulatory intravenous chemotherapy.
